Forecast for Monday 31 Aug 2020

Weather: A chilly start to the day for late August with any valley mist or fog patches quickly clearing Monday morning. Then a fine day with sunny spells through the morning, but likely clouding over through late morning and the afternoon, still with a few bright spells. Sunny spells will become more prevalent again by early evening, leading into a dry and clear start to the night, but it will turn chilly again.

Chance of cloud free mountain/hill tops above 800m: 100% throughout with cloud bases above summits.

Visibility: Largely excellent throughout. Poor in any mist patches early morning.
